Youths from “The Power Green Camp 3”
Showcase Their Environmental Science Projects
Designed to “Prevent Global Warming With Our Own Hands”

Nakorn Pathom – On October 18, sixty-two youths from schools nationwide participating in the “The Power Green Camp 3” displayed their environmental science projects under the theme “Prevent Global Warming With Our Own Hands,” at Tesco Lotus Salaya. Aimed at stimulating public awareness and cooperation for a sustainable environment, the event provided students the opportunity to share with the public their environmental science knowledge, particularly ideas on how to reduce the effects of global warming.

Held during October 13-19, 2008, this activity was a part of “The Power Green Camp 3”, an environmental science youth camp organized by Mahidol University’s Faculty of Environment and Resource Studies and sponsored by Banpu Public Company Limited.
