Firmly adhering to the philosophy, "Learning is the power of change and development," Banpu always puts an emphasis on education development through the financial aids to support schools in the special development zone of southern border provinces for 15 consecutive years with the initial aim to develop and support schools affected by political instability in the South. Even though the situation has changed, many schools in the area are still facing inadequacy of teaching and learning resources. On top of that, the COVID-19 pandemic has affected activities in those schools. This year, Banpu agreed to support 16 schools by focusing more on the budget for procurement of information technology (IT) equipment. Furthermore, Banpu provided support for teaching and learning materials, building improvements, vocation promotion and development, and health promotion in the schools.
